THINK ABOUT PRIVACY AND HOW YOU SHOULD PROTECT IT

Electronic communications now play a significant role in all of our lives and, for many, this intersects with how we express intimacy and sexuality.

In this course you will learn about issues involved in online sexual activity such as sexting, including the potential for online sexual abuse, cyberbullying and non-consensual sharing of sexual images.

The course is broken into several parts, and each part represents important concepts around online sexual activity, including consent, objectification, and abuse. The course also provides a full array of resources available to those who have been victimized or wish to seek further help.

Translates to Spanish, French, Chinese and any other browser supported languages.
