Shoplifting is a crime that has significant impacts on businesses and society alike, but most people shoplift due to personal behavioral issues, not out of need. This course will help you understand the root behavioral causes of your shoplifting and how you can avoid those behaviors in the future.

The Shoplifting online instruction program can be viewed and the accompanying test can be completed in the comfort of your home at your convenience. When you receive a passing score on the test, it transmits that score to the proper authority, allowing you to complete the requirements of their assignment.
